

Celebrate the first day of summer and the architectural magic of Burton Barr Central Library.

Free! Monday, June 20, 2016

1221 N. Central Ave.

Summer Solstice 21st Anniversary Event

Fifth Floor | 11 a.m. - 12:45 p.m.

Join us in the Great Reading Room for live music by pianist Lynne Haeseler, percussionists Jere Friedmann, Keith Johnson and Sam Anderson. Architect Will Bruder will talk about the unique building features that create a visual effect of light and shadow at solar noon. Following solar noon, enjoy a unique performance of Antonio Vivaldi's Gloria in excelsis Deo, conducted by Michael McCall with the Civic Chorus and a "flash choir." Join the flash choir! Bring your score to Vivaldi's Gloria and sing along with the ensemble.

Supported by the Friends of the Phoenix Public Library.

Press-a-Verse

1 - 4 p.m. | Fourth Floor

Drop by the Rare Book Room and print a keepsake on our century-old Washington Handpress.

Crafty Science

2 - 3 p.m. | MACH1, Fourth Floor

Make fun crafts including fairy ribbon wands and construction paper sun catchers.

Hance Park Forward

1 - 3 p.m. | Pulliam Auditorium, First Floor

Learn about the plans for Phase One of the Hance Park redesign. Meet members of the design team and representatives from nearby cultural and civic institutions.

Hosted by the Hance Park Conservancy

Arizona Chapter American Society of Landscape Architects Awards Exhibit

Second Space Gallery, Second Floor

The exhibit features this year's state award recipients. Enjoy extraordinary and unique projects designed by local landscape architects and landscape architecture students.

For more information, visit phoenixpubliclibrary.org or call 602-262-4636 (for TTY dial 7-1-1).